TITLE: Basic skills education program grant records

DATES: 2006-2008.

ARRANGEMENT: Alphabetical by school district name, thereunder alphabetical by student surname

DESCRIPTION:

Records in this series were created to help the Utah State Office of Education (USOE) manage the Basic Skills Education Stipend Program (described under Utah Code 53A-1-612).

The forms in these records were used to register the student/parent's choice of remediation provider (typically the school district). The information was entered into a database and future Utah Basic Skills Competency Test (UBSCT) results were tracked and stipends paid appropriately.

Documents in the series include: original signed choice forms, descriptions of remediation services provided by the districts, electronic versions of all program documentation, the electronic database used to track students and their results (including those that had a stipend paid), electronic analysis files showing program results/vital statistics.

Funding for this program was terminated in September 2008 during a special legislative session. A set of forms which were submitted to USOE but never entered into the database is included. The 2008-09 database file does not have any payment data as no funding was available.

TITLE: Gang prevention grant applications

ARRANGEMENT: Chronological.

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 1.50 cubic feet.

DESCRIPTION:

Beginning in 1993, under the authority of UCA 53A-15-601, the Utah State Office of Education started to administer a competitive grant program which distributes state funds to local schools. These funds are to be used to establish and maintain gang prevention and intervention programs. State funds for local programs are distributed on the basis of a competitive application process. This series is composed of the applications for funding under this program, letters of support, award letters, and reviewers' notes. Information on the application includes the school and district applying for funds; starting and ending dates; project director's name, title, address, and phone number; state, local and total budget; signature of district superintendent; names, titles, and agency affiliations for staff involved in development of the program; nature of gang activity in school; target population; past efforts in gang prevention; planned family and student outcomes; means for assessing success of program; narrative summary of project; case files management methodologies; verification of director's experience or training in gang prevention or intervention; budget detail, including the grant, local, in kind, and total shares for salaries, employee benefits, professional and technical services, inservice activities, supplies and materials, equipment, evaluation costs, travel indirect costs, and totals; and assurances of intended compliance with Board of Education rules and applicable statutes. In-house reviewers' notes include application number; checklist of items to assure that the application is complete; decision as to whether or not to forward to the program's evaluation panel; name, title, and signature of reviewer; and date of review. Evaluation panel review notes include a rating between 1 and 5 for verification of gang activity, project coordinator's role and qualifications, program content and service provisions, nature of program's impact, effective collaboration and planning, research quality, budget, prospects for continuation and replicability, evaluation techniques; recommendation to fund, not fund, or fund with modifications; notes of comments of reviewer; reviewer's name and signature; date of review and grant number.

DESCRIPTION:

Under the Agencies Coming Together for Children and Youth at Risk Act (UCA 63-75-1, et seq.), local interagency councils (LICs) may be formed to assist in providing services to youth who are at risk and need service intervention from more than one agency. LICs include representatives from child welfare, mental health, education, juvenile justice, youth corrections, substance abuse, health, developmental disabilities, and parents. LICs may receive state money on a non-competitive basis; however, they must apply for the funds. This series includes the applications for funds, correspondence, and any other documentation related directly to the LIC applications. The application includes the name, address, and phone numbers of the LIC; geographic area served by the LIC; proposal contact person's name, title, agency, address, and phone numbers; agency acting as the fiscal agent, including address, phone numbers, federal identification number; LIC membership names, titles, and agency affiliation; target population; LIC mission statement; relationship between the LIC and other local programs; number of students to be served with these funds; description of services to be provided; and budget information.

TITLE: Migrant education annual applications from local agencies

DATES: ca. 1971-

ARRANGEMENT: Chronological, thereunder alphabetical by school district

ANNUAL ACCUMULATION: 0.20 cubic feet.

DESCRIPTION:

This series is composed of the applications which the Utah State Office of Education receives from the school districts seeking funds to operate a migrant education program. The United States Department of Education provides funds under Chapter 1, Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (P.L. 89-10) for states to administer this Program. The migrant education program in Utah currently has ten sites which receive funds from the state migrant education program. The services are provided for children of migrant agricultural workers and recently settled, previously migrant families in a summer-only education program. They contain the following information: name of school district and contact person; year covered by plan; certifying signature of school officer; description of procedure for determining numbers and level of deprivation of migratory students; results of foregoing needs assessments; procedures to ensure that migratory students have priority over formerly migratory students; enumeration of desired outcomes; plans for identifying and recruiting students; numbers of anticipated students residing in the area and number of students served by migratory status, age, and grade level; services to be provided to migratory students in private schools; coordination of effort with other governmental entities; use of Migrant Student Record Transfer System; description of parental participation; sufficiency of program size; budget summary; names of administrators, teachers, aides, and other personnel along with their salary and benefit costs; and detail of other budget items.
