TITLE: Journals

DATES: i 1851-1880.

ARRANGEMENT: Chronological by session and year.

DESCRIPTION:

These journals contain the published minutes of the Legislative Assembly. They include the minutes of both the House of Representatives and the Council (Senate) as well as joint session minutes. After 1880, the journals were published as two separate series, one for the Senate and the other for the House.

Both houses followed a similar standard order of business.

Legislating via bills and resolutions is the most frequent. The title of the bill is recorded as well as its status: at which reading it is, whether it passed, committee referrals, amendments and rewrites motioned, etc. Individuals motioning for actions are recorded, but names on final votes are not. Contents of the bills are not recorded.

The appointment and election of Utah government officials is a subject of the journal.

Committee reports cover a wide spectrum of business. Reports of territorial agencies, such as the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society, Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, University of Deseret, Treasurer and Auditor's Office are regularly read into the minutes. Various communications, including petitions and county financial reports, may also be included.

Messages from the opposing chamber are recorded in full. Messages from the Territorial Secretary or the Governor on the passage, veto, or objections to bills are also recorded. Annual messages of the Governor to the joint session are printed in full.

Memorial tributes are rare but long, notably one in 1878 following the death of Brigham Young the previous year.

DATES: 1851-1894.

ARRANGEMENT:

DESCRIPTION:

Utah became a territory in 1851 and the Territorial Legislative Assembly first met on September 22, 1851. The Territorial Assembly was responsible for creating laws to govern the territory. These records contain the acts, bills, resolutions, memorials, and petitions of the first through thirty-first sessions (to statehood) of the Assembly. This series also contains reports, e.g. the Superintendent of Public Schools, University of Deseret; financial claims; and correspondence concerning the duties and actions of the Assembly. Within these documents charters of cities, divorce and marriage laws, laws regulating the physical construction of the state, legislation creating local governments, and numerous other laws setting the framework of life in Utah Territory can be found. The debate on polygamy can be witnessed through the bills and Governors' messages. Unfortunately, not all of the Governors' messages are contained in this series; for a more complete set see series 3145, JOURNALS.
